FISHING SEASON

Barracuda Going Strong

The three B's of ocean fishing — barracuda, bass and bonito—are going hot and heavy along the entire coast. The best run of log barracuda in years—to 8½ pounds—is under way from the Newport Beach pier to Ocean-side. The sharp-fanged fighters are taking all types of lures as well as live bait, but seem to prefer the silver and blue and white combination jig.

Bonito are cruising the same waters in ever-increasing numbers, reports Skipper Bill Trusty of the Frontier out of Art's Landing in Balboa, and are running to 6 pounds in weight. These fast-swimming sport fish are "eating" a few jigs and red and white feathers, but still seem to prefer live bait at present. Calico bass—to 4 pounds—can be found at almost any reef and kelp bed along the entire waterfront. Most are in the "keeper" class, with a few of the lunkers tipping the scales to 4 pounds.

The run on halibut has slowed somewhat, possibly due to increased fishing pressure by the party boats on barracuda and bonito, but they are still out there in goodly numbers with the biggest weighed in at Art's Landing last week tipping the scales at 28 pounds. That's a lot of nice eating.

Yellowtail are beginning to show in the warming waters off Dana Point, but are very hook shy. A couple have

Legislation Initiated For Fishing

Ocean Fish Protective Association President, Robert Vile, and Legislative Vice President, James Stiver, this week appealed to all California sportsmen for a massive letter-writing campaign to save Catalina Island sport fishing.

Assembly Bill 2098 will receive consideration of the California legislature June 3. Sponsored by Robert Badham, Assemblyman, Costa Mesa, the pending legislation culminates an intensive campaign designed to halt deterioration of game fishing resulting from unwise commercial fishing practices.

Fish Route Sought in Long Cruise

The Department of Fish and Game's 100-foot research vessel, N.B. Scofield, left San Pedro Tuesday on a month-long 3,000-mile quest to find eastward-migrating schools of albacore and determine their route as they approach California.

This regular preseason albacore survey is again a joint operation by the department and the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries. The bureau has chartered two commercial ships to search an area adjacent to and inshore from the N. B. Scofield.

During the four years of World War II, more than 390,000 Americans lost their lives in battle. During the same four years, however, your Los Angeles County Heart Association points out, 2,300,000 Americans died of heart and blood vessel diseases.

Races Set For Ascot

Motocycle riders at Ascot Park reap a double payoff with Friday night's program augmented by a steeplechase Saturday night.

Ralph White, 30-year-old Torrance veteran and 1963 Daytona 200-mile king, will aim for his second back-to-back win of the season.

In J. C. Agajian's last turn and twister, White set an Ascot steeplechase 15-lap record of 11:57.41 after out-duelling Dan Haaby and Sammy Tanner on the flat track the night before.

Along with White, others seeking twin wins include Haaby, Mert Lawwill, Dick Hammer and Bob Bailey.

Saturday night's steeplechase is bringing a pack of riders down from the San Francisco area, led by "Mr. TT" himself, Dick Dorresteyn a five time national race winner, and Dick Mann, 1963 Grand National champion.

"We have had a lot of 'god-fathers' on this project," explained Mangiagli.

The Garrett people have been responsible for at least $5000 of improvements, plus an electric scoreboard.

A contractor, R. E. Hubbard, provided all rough carpentry and took a team sponsorship.

A 400-foot water line and four industrial cesspools were obtained. The list goes on and on.

Eventually a second field will be erected on the site.

The existing minor league field is serving major and minor teams. Part of the "tournament field" is still utilized by the peewees.
